

Commersonia fraseri

This grove of Commersonia fraseri is growing in our valley and recommended by horticulturalist, Penny. It is a small tree, native to this area, drought tolerant and long lived. It has just flowered profusely (September). It looks good in a group and suckers (which can be mown over).

